

Consider the following statement, and choose the appropriate answer:

When you press a key, it presses a switch, completing the circuit and allowing a tiny amount of current to flow through.

- a) When a switch is pressed, a tiny amount of current is passed through the circuit.
- b) When a key is pressed a tiny amount of current is passed.
- c) Completing the circuit allows a tiny amount of current to flow through.
- d) The switch completes the circuit and allows a tiny amount of current to flow through.